Bert Frank Arbor Pendant

Bringing a sense of Art Deco grandeur into modern interiors, the Bert Frank Arbor Pendant is a decorative centrepiece that draws inspiration from the bold architecture of 1930s Manhattan. Clear vertical acrylic rods are housed within a precision-machined frame, casting a gentle ambient glow that enhances the atmosphere of any setting. Designed to evoke the silhouettes of Deco-era skyscrapers, the Arbor Pendant is glamorous yet refined, offering a warm, inviting light that flatters both residential and commercial interiors. Acrylic was purposefully chosen over glass for its ability to create a softer diffusion and more intimate ambience.

Handcrafted in Bert Frank's Birmingham workshop, the Arbor Pendant is suspended from a custom-length brushed brass drop rod to suit your ceiling height. A matching ceiling canopy is supplied as standard. Designed to be displayed either as a standalone focal point or in multiples for a dramatic chandelier effect, the Arbor Pendant balances visual elegance with functional illumination. The opulence of the design is matched by its craftsmanship and material integrity, making it an ideal choice for interiors that call for statement lighting.

Please note, a drop length must be chosen when ordering this product.
