Gubi Grashoppa Canvas Table Lamp

The Gubi Grashoppa Canvas Table Lamp revisits Greta M. Grossman's mid-century design language with a fresh material interpretation. Drawing from an archival prototype, this edition replaces the steel shade with a hand-crafted natural canvas lampshade. Its elongated form extends the spread of light across a desk or side table while maintaining the lamp's iconic silhouette, defined by the angled stem and circular brass base. The result is a design that is instantly recognisable yet distinctly refined, pairing functional lighting with timeless elegance.

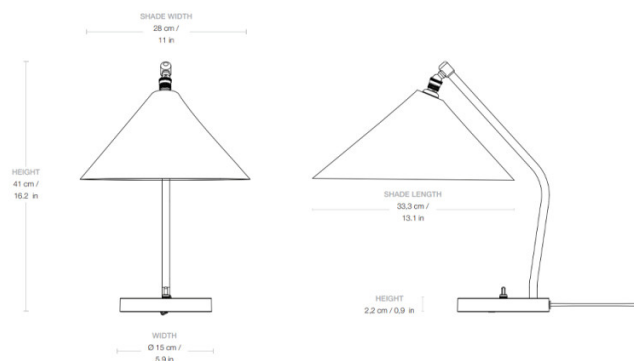

The canvas shade gently diffuses light to create a warm, ambient glow, offering both task and atmospheric illumination. Adjustable via a ball-socket joint, the shade can be directed with ease, making it ideal for reading or focused lighting without glare. Combined with the polished brass stem and base, the lamp strikes a balance of sophistication and playfulness, sitting comfortably alongside the steel-shaded edition in the Grashoppa family. A true blend of history and craftsmanship, this table lamp is both a functional light source and a collectable design object.
