Flos Foglio Small Wall Light

The Flos Foglio Small Wall Light was introduced in 2026 as a new, smaller size of Tobia Scarpa's 1966 design. Foglio takes its name from the Italian word for 'sheet', referring to the piece of metal used to form its curved shade. The bulbs sit inside the folds of the metal, directing light onto the wall above and below the fitting. The Small version keeps the shape of the original but takes up less space on the wall.

Foglio Small is well suited to bedrooms, hallways, and living rooms, particularly where wall space is limited. It can be positioned beside a bed, used in pairs along a corridor, or installed above furniture to provide additional ambient lighting. The curved metal shade is a prominent feature of the design, while the light it produces is soft enough to work alongside other lighting in the room.

Foglio Small is available in White, Black, Bronze, Chrome, and Gold finishes. The painted options offer a more understated appearance, while the polished finishes emphasise the curves of the metal. The wall light uses two replaceable LED bulbs, which are not included, and can be dimmed with compatible lamps and a suitable dimming system. The collection also includes the original, larger Foglio Wall Light.
