Catellani & Smith Atman LED Table Lamp

The Atman LED table lamp by Catellani & Smith is a stunning addition to a coffee table, shelf or bedside and brings a unique light to a room. The Atman was initially an experiment by Enzo Catellani to discover the possibilities of LED in decorative lighting. By combining Catellani's skill in lighting and a recent trip to India, this table lamp has been brought to life through experimentation and inspiration.

The intense culture of both silence and chaos, India was the driving force behind this elegant design. Enzo aimed to encapsulate the spirituality and beauty of India through the Atman lamp. The shape of the crystal glass lamp imitates the holy oval stones that Catellani found on his travels. The crystal glass shaped into this oval stone beautifully diffuses the LED light and forms an elegant beam of light across the room. This shaping of the crystal makes the beam of light the main feature of the lamp. Appearing small and understated, when switched on, this perception instantly shifts and this Atman lamp reveals its true beauty. This concept was inspired by the idea of spirituality and souls. The name Atman, meaning 'soul' in Sanskrit, demonstrates the potential of LED in the world of decorative lighting.
